

Global Equity fund in a nutshell

The fund seeks to provide an increase in the value of investments over the long term (more than 5 years).

The fund is managed by two investment firms. Baillie Gifford in Edinburgh seeks to identify market leading companies with above average cash flow and earnings growth. Wellington Management in Boston focuses on out of favour companies that are deeply undervalued relative to peers and history.

- 1 Active difference. Bringing together two very different management teams, each draws on a powerful, deep-rooted investment culture, ensuring investors benefit from true diversity of thought.
- 2 Cross-cycle performance. Combining two different approaches to growth and value aim to help the fund deliver a consistent level of performance across varying market cycles.
- 3 Breadth and balance. The fund's balance of complementary ways of investing produces a diversified portfolio across a wide range of countries and sectors, helping investors to benefit from a wide variety of sources of return.

About the managers

Baillie Gifford

Baillie Gifford is one of the UK's largest private investment managers. The firm was founded in 1908 in Edinburgh where it is headquartered to this day. The firm is a private partnership wholly owned by the current partners who all work full time in the business. The partnership structure affords the company significant stability and independence, which means they focus on the best interests of their clients.

Vanguard has been using Baillie Gifford as a sub-adviser since 2003.

Wellington Management Company

Wellington Management traces their roots back to 1928, when Walter Morgan, a Philadelphia-based accountant, established the first balanced mutual fund in the United States. Despite the great market crash of 1929, Mr Morgan established Wellington Management as an innovator and leader in investment management.

Today, Wellington Management has a significant presence and long-term track record in nearly all sectors of the global securities markets. Still, their history is perhaps best defined not by the number of years they've been in existence, but rather by their focus on stability and growth to help meet the evolving needs of their clients.

Investment risk information

The value of investments, and the income from them, may fall or rise and investors may get back less than they invested.

Some funds invest in emerging markets which can be more volatile than more established markets. As a result the value of your investment may rise or fall.

Investments in smaller companies may be more volatile than investments in well-established blue chip companies.

The Funds may use derivatives in order to reduce risk or cost and/or generate extra income or growth. The use of derivatives could increase or reduce exposure to underlying assets and result in greater fluctuations of the Fund's net asset value. A derivative is a financial contract whose value is based on the value of a financial asset (such as a share, bond, or currency) or a market index.

Some funds invest in securities which are denominated in different currencies. Movements in currency exchange rates can affect the return of investments.
